—Cardinal Newman is dead.

—Our friends, the Democrats, thought last Saturday that the Republicans had waked up.

—Pickler predicts that reciprocity will be the Republican slogan for 1892. It will win.

—Those speeches by F. M. Harrington, J. M. McCall and S. M. Pickler last Saturday had all the true ring to them.

—Infidelity to party will not pay. The man who is not true to his political faith will regret it. He who scratches his ticket may expect scratching in the future. Retaliation is natural, then vote straight so no one can retaliate.

—The gain in population in the State of Missouri since 1880 has been 490,650. Our population in 1880 was 2,169,091 in 1890 is 2,659,741. All that is necessary to make Missouri one of the great States in the union is to make it Republican.

Telegraphic dispatches state that during a battle in the city of San Salvador the forces of the provisional government tore down the American flag, and seized the American consulate. Mr. Blaine promptly telegraphed Mr. Mizer the American Minister to demand full reparation, and the San Salvadorians came to time in short order. All the world including San Salvador has learned that it won't do to fool with Uncle Sam.

—The Adair county Democracy having drawn on the coat of the sheep, have planned a deep scheme to defeat some of the Republican candidates on the county ticket. Knowing they cannot beat them at the polls, they are trying to get enough Republicans to vote for township organization to carry it, and thus legislate out candidates that are honestly elected. Every true Republican should at once array himself against the Democratic dodge, labeled "Township organization," and vote against the measure.

—The Kemmler execution by electricity at Auburn last week, was one of the most inhuman butcheries ever put on record. While the poor victim, strapped hard and fast in the chair was struggling, groaning and crying, his head on fire and clothes burning, Dr. Southwick of Buffalo, the inventor of the infernal machine, was strutting in exultation saying: "There is the culmination of ten years work and study. We live in a higher civilization from this day." How much better is this mode of torture than burning at the stake. "Thou shalt not kill" says the Bible; and yet men professing to be Christians favor such hellish torture.

—The Republicans of Adair county should have their eyes open. The Democracy will move Heaven and earth to carry y Adair county, and are aiming their blows at the head of the ticket. It is believed that an effort will be made by the Democracy to beat Mr. Davis, and that his opponent has promised to cast his vote for George G. Vest for United States Senator. Vest is sorely pressed and it would be a shame if Adair county after going Republican for twenty years should permit Mr. Davis to be beaten and thus give another vote for Vest for the United States Senate. One vote may elect the next Senator, so Republicans be on your guard.

THE ISSUES.

The issues for the coming political campaign are hardly made up as yet, that is so far as details go. The general issues are plain and distinct and always have been and always will be. The Republican party is the party of progress, the friend to the working class, the farmer and the poor, white or black; the Democratic party is the opposite. The issues of the coming campaign and the issues for 1892 will be the Tariff, Reciprocity, and Fair Elections. Other minor issues may be involved, but these three will no doubt be the leading principles advocated from the stump and by the press. The Democracy's idea of a Tariff for Revenue only will, no doubt, be reaffirmed with all the other traditions of the Democratic party from 1860 down to the present, Tariff for Revenue only, is a long step in the direction of free trade, for which Great Britain is sighing, for the benefit of Great Britain more than the United States. On the belief that we should look after home interests rather than foreigners, the Republican party believes in a tariff for the protection of home industries regardless of the feelings of Johnny Bull in the matter. Just what articles should have a high, and what a low tariff, are matters that have to be adjusted to suit the masses. The tariff on sugar could not be made too high to suit a Louisiana planter, while the farmer in Ohio wants sugar on the free list. This causes some very nice questions to arise which to-day puzzle the wisest heads in Washington. But the people can depend on the Republican party to adjust all matters satisfactorily in the end. Then justice will be done the producer of raw material, as well as the manufacturer. Our free trade friends, the Democrats, who have howled robber tariff and "the tariff is a tax" that is robbing the farmer, and that the tariff legislation is in the interest of trusts and monopolies, forget that they, by placing raw material produced by farmers on the free list, would be giving the manufacturers and big trusts of Europe the power to force the farmer to sell his raw material or products of all kind at starvation prices, and buy at prices made by trusts of the Old World. The nice questions of the amount of tariff are quietly adjusting themselves and the people can trust the wise heads in counsel over them. Another feature the outgrowth no doubt of the Pan American Congress, is reciprocity treaties, especially with the South American Nations. A tariff on imports of small value that would cause a retaliatory tariff by some other nation on our exports might work a great injury to the American people as a whole. Then suggests Mr. Blaine reciprocity with such nations becomes essential. Our Democratic friends seem to see in reciprocity the hidden reef on which the Republican bark will go down. Never fear. There is naught but harmony among the Republicans, and all these differences in regard to reciprocity will be adjusted in the end, and measures adopted satisfactory to all. Southern outrages, at election precincts have become so common and so notorious as to make 'anumanity blush, and in their righteous indignation the Republican party says they must cease. The Democrats of the South have ceased denying that the elections in the south are carried by fraud and intimidation, and use as an excuse that the whites must cheat and intimidate the colored voter in order to avoid negro supremacy. Each state has it in its power to disfranchise the negro. Why does not the south do it? Because by doing so they would lose a proportion of congressmen and presidential electors. If they will retain the negro as a citizen, then let him vote as he wants to, and let his vote be counted as he wants it counted. These are the main issues on which the next great political battle will be fought and we have no doubt of the result. Protection to home industries, reciprocity and fair election will win.

The humorous items in the New York Weekly and Good News are about as funny as a sentence to six months on the Island. Street and Smith must have an undertaker or anglo-manic dude for their paragraphist.

THE WILSON BILL.

The Wilson Bill, known as the "Original Package Bill" which has just passed the house reads as follows: "That all fermented, distilled or other intoxicating liquors or liquors transported into any State or Territory, or remaining therein for use, consumption, sale or storage, shall, upon arrival in such State or Territory, be subject to the operation and effect of the laws of such state or territory, enacted in the exercise of its police powers, to the same extent and in the same manner as though such liquors or liquors had been produced in such state or territory, and shall not be exempt therefrom by reason of being introduced therein in original packages or otherwise."

The bill was passed by an almost strict party vote. Only four democrats voting for the measure. What will the prohibitionists say now. The man who says the Republican and Democratic party are alike on the liquor question is either willfully false or grossly ignorant. The grand old Republican party has the lead in everything.

A FABLE.

The Four Foolish Teamsters and their four Wagons.

Once upon a time four teamsters started to town in their wagons, each wagon being filled with sheep which they had been sent to bring to the owner, for the sheep had gone astray. One teamster had a Grassie Brothers wagon, one a Newton, one a Studebaker and one a Moline. They met at the forks of the road and began to dispute as to which had the best wagon for taking sheep to town. They grew angry, and their words became loud, and the worst slang and billings-gate took the place of argument. They lost their temper and forgot their mission, which was to gather up the lost sheep and return them to their masters. Now these foolish teamsters had been warned against the wolf which was at that very moment in the woods, hungrily eyeing the sheep. The wolf said:

"When the shepherds quarrel, surely the sheep will be mine," and while the teamsters were so engaged in their little quarrel their common enemy, the wolf, stole away all the sheep, and their wagons were empty. When they went to the master, he asked:

"Where are my sheep which I sent thee to bring?"

"Behold Master," said one, "we did quarrel by the way, as to which wagon was best to bring sheep to thee, and even yet while we quarreled the wolf did come and carried away your sheep, and devoured them."

Then the master rebuked them saying:

"Did ye not have wagons of your own choosing? and was not either of your wagons strong enough to bring the sheep which had gone astray? But whereas ye chose to loiter by the way and quarrel and strive among yourselves, until the wolves, of which I warned ye, did slay my sheep, behold I will drive ye also into the forest to be also devoured." And then the master rose and drove the four foolish teamsters away into the forest, and there was wailing and gnashing of teeth.

MORAL.

Our several churches are good vehicles, all strong enough to convey souls to Heaven. It's the preacher's place to lead his flock to the Golden Gates, and not halt by the way to engage in a theological prize fight to win the name of an intellectual giant, or the great doctrinal defender. The devil flaps his black wings and all hell rings with evilest at the announcement of a religious discussion.

John and Jake Kohlmyer, F. Heller, T. Karns and W. Davis went to the Chariton, Saturday fishing. They brought home about two hundred lbs. of nice fish.

Republican Mass Meeting.

The Republican mass meeting at the Masonic Hall last Saturday was what might be termed the opening of the campaign, and was all that the Republicans could wish. The meeting was called to order by Col. J. H. Kinneer, chairman Republican County Committee, who read the call. John R. Musick was chosen chairman of the convention and Thomas Fickler secretary. J. Q. Johnson, C. E. Zeigler and M. F. Strook were chosen as a committee to select delegates to the Congressional Convention, which meets at Macon City Aug. 27th, and to the State Convention which meets at Jefferson City Aug. 28th. While the committee was engaged in making out its report, speeches were made by Hon. F. M. Harrington, Hon. J. M. McCall, Hon. S. M. Pickler, Mr. C. E. Zeigler and Wm. Hartford. The committee reported the following as delegates to the State Convention: F. M. Harrington, Prof. W. F. Frakes, Geo. W. Meers, Frank Gibbs, J. N. McCreery, George Shibley, R. N. Toler, J. R. Musick.

The following to the Congressional Convention: Henry Hayes, M. Deaton, Chas. Callison, A. C. Rowlison, T. W. Fickler, C. E. Zeigler, J. W. Shibley, John Campbell, J. H. Novinger, S. S. McLaughlin, and Thomas Hulse.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted. After a few expressions in regard to the time for opening the campaign, the convention adjourned.

Chauncey I. Filley.

There comes news from Washington that there is a possibility of the position of First Assistant Postmaster General being tendered to Chauncey I. Filley. It is not known that he would accept the place if offered, but it is known that there is no man more deserving, worthy or competent. He is the recognized head of the Republican party in Missouri for the reason that he recognizes the party as able to lead itself. He is honored by the masses of the party because he honors the masses. He is looked up to by the rank and file, because he looks to the rank and file for inspiration. He is loved by the workers of the party because he loves and rewards the workers, and has a worker's heart and hands. He is the bone and sinew and life blood of the organized element of the party in Missouri.—Saturday Sentinel.

Wilson Waifs.

Threshing is about through. Farmers are plowing for wheat. Warm weather and fine rains the past week.

Miss Eliza Davidson of Goldsberry, is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. G. Taylor.

Mr. Henry Clark, wife and daughters, Miss Nettie and Rachel of Macon county, are visiting the family of C. H. Malone.

A couple of gentlemen from Illinois, are visiting O. W. Clotfelter and looking around with a view to buying farms in this locality.

Mr. H. N. Belt and family who have been visiting here for some weeks, have gone to Illinois, where they will remain until about the 1st of September, when they will return to their home in Spokane Falls, Washington.

Pure Air Items.

Nights cool.

Rev. Regan preached at Pure Air Sunday.

Rev. Doyle will preach at Golden Rule next Sunday.

Fall pasture will be short unless there is rain, soon.

Rev. Doyle held a basket meeting at Mt. Zion last Sunday.

Corn in this part of the country will not make more than half a crop.

The black smith shop at Pure Air, under the management of Stinson and Eitel, is doing a lively business.

The president of the Farmers' Alliance has rudely shocked the free trade democracy by declaring: "It is not tariff reduction that is necessary. Free trade England is complaining." The farmers of the country will not be lured into the support of the free trade crusade in which the democracy is engaged. They are especially opposed to the "free raw material" theory; for everything raised or grown on a farm is a raw material. Free trade in raw materials means a withdrawal of protection from wool, hay, barley, hops, fruit and a hundred other agricultural products now enjoying protection. Grover Cleveland the complete letter writer, may subscribe to all the principles of Farmers' Alliance; but the alliance cannot subscribe to the free trade fanaticism of the Cleveland democracy.—Hawkeye.

Old Settlers Reunion.

Teachers Institute.

The Adair County Teacher's Institute opened Aug. 11th, 1890, with a larger attendance than has been known in the history of the organization. GEO. F. EITEL.

Demorest For September 1890.

HYPNOTISM—mesmerism—by whichever name you choose to call it—is a subject of special interest to everybody at present, and everyone would be pleased to have ocular demonstration of some of the wonderful phenomena produced by this weird art or science.

Another timely paper is "On a Millionaire's Steam Yacht," the text and the fine illustrations giving a vivid idea of Jay Gould's "Atlanta," the floating palace in which he and his guests enjoy "life on the ocean wave." The story matter is fully up to its usual high standard, every one of "our girls" should read "Girl Bachelors vs Husband-Hunters," and the children will be delighted with the kindergarten amusements and the story of "A Dutch Doll." How all this is done for 20 cents a number, $2 a year, is a problem. Published by W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 15 East 14th St., New York.

"It is more blessed to give than receive," said the school-boy who had the itch and gave it to his neighbor.

W. W. Moore, of the Grand Opera House, Des Moines Iowa, is an early settler in that part of Iowa, and has had a great deal of experience in his time. He says: "At various times I have acute attacks of bilious colic and found nothing that gave me relief like Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Every person," he says, "should have a bottle. For sale by Smith and Dunkin."
